Cotton Market Shows Strength

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 18.—An early decline in the market news was followed by strong advances today, bringing the market up to 30 cents above the previous records of the cotton belt. Cotton contracts sold up 31 cent and closed at 43.50 with the general market closing steady, not unchanged to 45 points higher.

After opening four points lower to five points below active markets and 10 points below the market in New York, cotton gained strength during the afternoon. July rose up to 37.82 and December to 33.50.

The close was two points off from the close. Total results: 6,525, United States position, 263,000; foreign 8,621, making 6,190 bales for this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, June 18.—In the market after the session's 12-point advance under 30, the market found support in the movement of the market in the intermediate and long-term contracts, which were still continuing. Buying was heavier later in the day, when the trading opened wide to 32 points higher than the close of yesterday. Total prices were at or near 40 to 42 points. July is the nearest at 37.80 and at its current 40.

H. S. & G. LETTER.

DETROIT, June 18.—The closing of general gains in the cotton market overnight with prospects for more to come in the intermediate and long-term contracts, which were still continuing. Buying was heavier later in the day, when the trading opened wide to 32 points higher than the close of yesterday. Total prices were at or near 40 to 42 points. July is the nearest at 37.80 and at its current 40.

CHICAGO, June 18.—Bullish crop reports as to oats and wheat led to mixed uptones today in the market. The close was strong, 1.50 to 1.75, net higher, with 13,294, 13,784 and 13,000 bales. Total results: 1,934, 1,940 and 1,934. Oats finished at 1.50c to 2.00c advanced and provisions up 2.00c to 2.50c.

All the symptoms of a crop were developed regarding oats, reports from the south showing a good crop of oats and wheat, and a good crop of corn. On the other hand, in the weather charts, the rains have been frequent and rainfall heavy in southern and central states, while conditions show further improvement.
